UP Is an ‘Education First’ Community

A Message from School Board President Michael Ehart

Education is changing constantly. In the swirl of new and old ideas, it is easy to lose track of why we are here and what our goals are. I was born in 1955, the same year that Why Johnny Can’t Read was published. That book kicked up a firestorm in education, led to congressional hearings, and had a major impact on the public’s involvement in determining how their children were taught. It seems that every few years since then, there has been a new attempt to redefine how our children are educated. In University Place School District, we have consistently resisted the pressure to “change for change’s sake.”

Welcome to the new look of the University Place School District’s Dialog. By changing to a more efficient magazine-style format, the school district is saving money and becoming more environmentally sound—the paper is sourced from sustainably grown trees that are both SFI and FSC certified—while presenting a more colorful glimpse of all the wonderful things going on within our schools and around our University Place community. In these pages we will continue to keep you, the public, informed about our efforts to maintain our school district’s standing as one of the preeminent districts in the state. Our schools are a vital part of our community, and we know the public is invested in their future as much as we are.

Student Safety Comes First
A Message from Superintendent Jeff Chamberlin

Recent incidents all around the world remind us that keeping one another safe is a full-time job and a team effort. While educating students is our primary objective in UPSD, keeping students safe is our first and greatest responsibility. Student safety and emergency preparedness have long been a priority for us and I want to share some of the most important strategies we use to keep kids safe:

Emergency Preparedness
The school district has a clear set of emergency procedures for a wide range of possible threats including fire, earthquake, intruders, active shooters, and other hazards. We review these procedures with staff and students annually and we conduct regular drills to practice our response. For example, we recently participated in the Great Washington Shakeout—a statewide earthquake drill—as a way to prepare. Students in our schools are well-versed in taking cover, locking down, and evacuating should they need to do so in an emergency.

Clear Rules, Well Taught
Developing clear rules and procedures and taking time to teach them to students also helps kids stay safe. School staff talk with kids about the behaviors they expect at school throughout the year. In particular, we make it clear to kids that bullying is not allowed and that weapons and other dangerous items or behaviors have no place in our schools.

Supervision at All Times
Adult supervision is critical to student safety. Our kids are safer—and they feel safer—when adults are present in classrooms, hallways, in the lunchroom, and on the playground. We have systems in place to make sure that kids are supervised at all times when they are at school.

Investing in Safety
Local tax dollars are used to invest in student safety by hiring safety personnel and by purchasing safety equipment. We employ security officers at both CJH and CHS and contract with UP Police for a School Resource Officer who is available to staff and students at all eight schools. Crossing guards help keep students safe on the way to and from school and hired supervisors look after students at lunch and during recess. We also invest in important safety technology such as video cameras, emergency radios, and other communication tools.

Community Partnerships
Parents help keep schools safe by reporting any concerns they are aware of promptly to administrators. We are grateful for the information we receive from concerned parents and their students. We also meet regularly with first responders about general safety, specific incidents, and our emergency procedures.

We will continue to keep student safety at the forefront of our thinking and effort. We have many goals and objectives as a school district, but nothing is more important than caring for the children of our community. If you have questions about student safety or suggestions on how to make our schools safer, please contact me.
Instead, we have remained committed to a proven set of objectives and practices that we know work for students.

It is important for us to remember, as Board Directors and as citizens, that our responsibility is first to the education of our children. The citizens of University Place have a long and proud history of putting their local schools first. Even our state constitution says, in Article IX, “It is the paramount duty of the state to make ample provision for the education of all children residing within its borders, without distinction or preference on account of race, color, caste, or sex.” Paramount!

It has been my distinct pleasure to have served on the University Place School Board for these eight years. In that time I have seen just how important it is to the staff, the administration, the Board, and to every citizen that has come before us, stopped me on the street or at the grocery store, called, or e-mailed that we get this one thing right.

I am proud of the job that University Place Schools have done in creating a positive place to learn for our kids, while following through with research-tested methods that have resulted in our district consistently being considered one of the top districts in the state. I am confident that we—with the continued support of our community—will maintain this high standard in the years to come.

“‘It is the paramount duty of the state to make ample provision for the education of all children residing within its borders, without distinction or preference on account of race, color, caste, or sex.’”

— State Constitution, Article IX

National Merit Semifinalist

Of more than 1.6 million students who take the PSAT each year, only the top one percent are selected as semifinalists, with the opportunity to compete for scholarships as a finalist. CHS student James Wang was named to this prestigious list. A member of both the swim team, the water polo team, and the math team during his time at Curtis Junior High and Curtis High School, James is also an avid chess player, rated an Expert by the U.S. Chess Federation. He hopes to attend Stanford after graduation.
Senior Charissa Bacon represented UPSD as the keynote speaker at the annual Elizabeth Wesley Youth Merit Incentive Award Ceremony at Clover Park Technical College in September. Selected from a group of more than 250 students to present the keynote address, she was also the recipient of the Key Bank Scholarship at the ceremony. Charissa has attended UP schools since kindergarten and is the daughter of Sunset Reading Specialist Adrina Bacon.

Charissa is a strong student, talented musician, and school leader. She was selected as Miss Pierce County’s Outstanding Teen as a junior and is currently leading the student-led Cultures United club at Curtis High School. She is tireless in her efforts to promote cultural acceptance and ensure that her high school is a great environment for all students to learn.

Charissa was joined at the awards ceremony by 17 talented classmates (pictured above) with a wide variety of skills and talents. CHS students are well-represented at the Elizabeth Wesley Youth Merit Incentive Awards each year and have been for over a decade. We are very proud of our student honorees for who they are and what they have accomplished. For more information about the awards, visit www.ewesleyaward.org.

Academic Data

The mission of the University Place School District, in partnership with our community, is to develop competent, contributing citizens.

The graph shows the percentage of students meeting or exceeding the state standard for the Smarter Balanced Assessment (Grades 3-8 & 11), Measurements of Student Progress, Science (Grades 5 & 8), and Biology End of Course Exam, 2017. The bars represent the state score and the University Place School District (UPSD) score for each grade level.

Mean SAT Scores, 2017

- Curtis HS: 576 (Math)
- Washington State: 533 (Math)
- National: 533 (Math)

The SAT has changed this year to combine critical reading and writing into one category.

Check It Out

University Place schools outperformed the Washington State average at every grade level of the Smarter Balanced Assessment and Measurements of Student Progress, as seen in the graph above. At left, CHS students scored well above both the state and national mean scores on the SAT. Note the SAT has changed this year to combine critical reading and writing into one category.
Annual Performance Report
Specific information on the performance of schools, the district, and demographic subgroups is available at http://reportcard.ospi.k12.wa.us. National Assessment of Educational Programs data can be found at http://www.k12.wa.us/assessment/NAEP/reports.aspx.

Information regarding student demographics, academic performance of each demographic group, the percentage of students tested by school and demographic group, comparisons with state performance in each area, expenditures per pupil, a concise budget report, and graduation and dropout statistics is available at www.k12.wa.us/dataAdmin.

Parents’ Right to Know
Professional Qualifications: At any time you may ask whether the teacher met state qualifications and certification requirements for the grade level and subject he/she is teaching; whether the teacher received an emergency or conditional certificate through which state qualifications were waived; and what undergraduate or graduate degrees the teacher holds, including graduate certificates and additional degrees, and major(s) or area(s) of concentration. If you have questions about the professional qualifications of your child’s teacher, please contact your child’s principal.

Citizen Complaint Procedures: A citizen complaint is a written statement that alleges a violation of a federal rule, law, regulation or state regulation that applies to a federal program. To learn more about this process, you can find information on the OSPI website at http://www.k12.wa.us/Title1/ CitizenComplaint.aspx. You can also request information about this process from the UPSD Educational Service Center.

Communication with Parents/Guardians
State and federal regulations require reporting key information about UPSD schools, federal and state programs, and the performance of our students to parents and community members. UPSD believes a strong partnership between our schools and community is necessary to ensure a quality education for all students. We invite parents/guardians to be active, to be involved, and to provide input. Please contact the principal of your child’s school to learn about ways to become involved. If you have questions or comments, please call the Educational Service Center (253-566-5600). The University Place School District complies with all federal and state laws, rules, and regulations and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin (including language), sex, sexual orientation including gender expression or identity, creed, religion, age, veteran or military status, disability, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a person with a disability in student education programs, co-curricular activities, and employment practices. The district is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer encouraging application of qualified minorities, women, and disabled persons for employment and other opportunities.

University Place School District is committed to providing access to all district programs and activities and provides equal access to the Boy Scouts and other designated youth groups. For elevator access at school sites, contact the principal’s office. The University Place School District is a drug-free/smoke-free work place and educational setting. Direct inquiries regarding compliance, grievance, or appeal procedures, or concerns involving students, should be made to the District Affirmative Action Officer/Civil Rights Compliance Coordinator/ Title IX Officer/HIB Compliance Officer, Executive Director of Secondary Education, Lainey Mathews, lmathews@upsd83.org; or Section 504/FAPE/ADA concerns should be made to Director of Special Services, Maria Hetland, mhetland@upsd83.org. Both can be contacted at (253) 566-5600, 3717 Grandview Drive West, University Place, WA 98466.

Safe Schools
Student success in learning requires a safe environment. UPSD is committed to safe schools where students can achieve at their highest potential and teachers can teach in a welcoming environment, free of intimidation and fear. Each of our schools fosters a spirit of acceptance and care for every child, and an educational environment where behavior expectations are clearly communicated, consistently enforced, and fairly applied.

Federal and State Funding
UPSD uses state and federal dollars to support students who have been identified as needing additional support in specified content areas. Students are identified based on multiple measures. Title 1, Part A is used to provide additional English Language Arts support to students in grades K-9 and additional math support to students in grades 2-9. LAP (Learning Assistance Program) funds are used to provide additional English Language Arts support to students in grades K-7 and 11-12, and math support to students in grades 2-4. Title III (federal funds) and TBIP (Transitional Bilingual state funds) are used to provide assistance to English Language Learners who qualify for supplemental language support.
Let’s Keep an Open “Dialog”

I value and appreciate feedback and suggestions from parents and community members. Please feel free to contact me directly at 253-566-5600 or jchamberlin@upsd83.org with ideas, questions, or concerns. I also welcome invitations to connect with individuals and community groups to discuss our school district and/or important topics in education. I hope to hear from you.

E-mail Update
We are slowly transitioning to a new e-mail system this year. Eventually, all district e-mails will consist of the employee’s first initial, followed by their last name and end with “@upsd83.org” (i.e., jchamberlin@upsd83.org.) For now, please continue to use our existing system. You will be notified when staff serving your student switch to the new system. Email messages sent to old email addresses will be automatically forwarded to the new addresses for several months. Please contact us right away if you are not getting a response to email.
